DANGEROUS PIGS. The Percary Is Wholly Fearless and Will Fight Man or Beast. A writer in the St. Louis Republic says that the most vicious and fearless member of the brute creation is the peccary, or wild hog, of Mexico. This animal seems utterly devoid of fear and displays an intelligence in fighting man strangely at variance with its apparently complete lack of mental attributes. Their ability to scent men is particularly marked. The only thing to do when they get after you is to run away from them as fast as a horse can carry you, and then there is no certainty that they won't catch you. They are nearly as swift as a horse, and their endurance is as great as their viciousness. A friend of mine encountered a drove of them in a wild part of Mexico a few years ago, and his escape was almost miraculous. He very foolishly shot and wounded a number of them. Then he look refuge in a tree. The peccarios kept him in the tree all that day and through the night. They circled round the tree, grunting and squealing their delight at the prospect of a feast. He soon exhausted his ammunition and brought down a peccary at each fire, but this had no terrors for the beasts.

Toward morning they began to eat those he had killed, after which they ormed in line and trotted off. If they had not had some of their own number to devour, they would have guarded that tree until my friend, through sheer exhaustion, dropped from his perch and allowed them to make a meal of him.

A QUEER CALCULATION.

The Power That Would Be Required to Move the Earth.

Statisticians sometimes have queer idens. One of them has amused himself by calculating how much energy, water and coal it would take to move the earth a foot, supposing that it was subjected throughout its mass to a force equivalent to terrestrial gravitation. This is a gratuitous supposition, for in spite of its enormous mass the earth weighs nothing.

Starting with the fact that the earth's mass is about 6,100 million-millionmillion tons, our statistician calculates that we should require 70,000,000,000 years for a 10,000 horsepower engine to move our globe a foot. The boiler that should feed this engine would vaporize a quantity of water that would cover the whole face of the globe with a layer 800 feet deep. The vaporization of this water would require 4,000 million-million tons of coal. This coal carried in cars holding ten tons each and having a total length of 80 feet, would require 400 million-million cars, which would reach 80,000,000 times around the earth. This train, moving at the rate of 40 miles an hour, would take more than 5,000,000 years to trav erse its own length. It would require for storage a shed that would cover

1,000 times the area of Europe. If we realize that this fantastically buge amount of energy is nothing at all compared with what the earth possesses in virtue of its rotation about its axis, its revolution about the gun, and its translation in space with the solar system, of which the earth is but an infinitesimal part and which itself is but an infinitesimal part of the universe, we may get some idea of the importance of man in the universe and estimate his incommensurable pride at its just value.

That person has never aspired to, nor claimed the leadership of the party to which he belongs, or anything more than one of the rank and file who has adhered to his principles, and often to his pecuniary disvantage as the Independent well knows. He will only retaliate by asking the editor of the Independent if he can truthfully say the same?

But enough has been said upon both sides, and the JOURNAL is willing to await the meeting of the joint convention, when it is confident that the matter will be determined in a manuer which will convince the Independent that it has indulged in a whole lot of useless speculation concerning the duty of a gentleman who is the custodian of his own conscience, which he has never committed to the care of the Eiko Independent.

PROBABLY AS WE SUSPECTED. Was the "People's Advocate" Led Into a Trap?

In a portion of an article which the JOURNAL a few days ago copied from the People's Advocate, that paper asseried that a short hand reporter, who was riding in a car with Stewart and Wallace, had taken notes of their conversation which were afterwards written out in long hand and were in possession of United States Marshal J. F-Emmitt. The Journal at the time expressed the suspicion that the Advocate had been inveigled into a trap. The JOURNAL had heard the report, but made no reference to it, suspecting that it was a scheme to enable Stewart to pose as a martyr, although it had no doubt that dozens of conversations of the same character had been held between Stewart and his political manager, but we could hardly believe that any of them occurred in so public a place as a railway car. As the report, Justice of the Peace R chardson Holds however, had got in public print, the JOURNAL maintained that the matter should be fully investigated in justice to all parties concerned and suggested that Marshal Emmitt should make a statement as to whether or not such a following note was received in the JOURNAL office yesterday morning:

EDITOR JOURNAL :- A few days ago you copied an article from the People's Advocate which referred to meas having a written report of a conversation between Senator Stewart and C. C. Wallace relative to the purchase of the votes of certain members of the Ne vada Logislature. This is a mistaka. I have not now and never had any such Locument in my possession.

Yours truly J. F. EMMITT.

It is now in order for the Advocate to make an explanation as to the source of its information, with such particulars as may load to the identity of the author of the report, and his object in circulation it.
